THE WASHINGTON POST
B 2 Thursday, August 15, 1974

Moving Up at T

Julie Nixon Eisenhower has been promoted by Curtis Publishing Co. from associate editor to assistant managing editor of The Saturday Evening Post.

A book of her favorite stories for children will soon be published and she is at work on a cookbook.

Dr. Cory Servaas, co-publisher with her husband of Curtis Publishing, says that Julie Eisenhower "has a great future with Curtis.

"She is an outstanding young journalist. All during the Watergate proceedings, Julie never missed a day working at her office in Washington and spending two days a week in Indianapolis at company headquarters."